

Aljoša Šajna, Ph.D (Civil Engineering) is working at the Slovenian National Building and Civil Engineering Institute as a head of the Laboratory for Concrete.

He studied at the University of Ljubljana, Faculty of Civil and Geodetic Engineering and made his PhD at Technical University of Vienna. He has been working as a researcher in the field of concrete, concrete technology, concrete testing and execution of concrete works for 30 years. He's been involved in many research projects (FP6, FP7, EUREKA, H2020) and international collaborations.

He's a member of RILEM, a member of CEN TC 104 Concrete and Concrete Technology, a president of Slovenian Standardization SIST TC BBB, Technical Committee Concrete, Reinforced Concrete and Prestressed Concrete, and a member of Board of experts of Slovenian Concrete Association.